LISTING OF CLAIMS:

1. - 21. (canceled).

22. (currently amended): A liquid ejecting apparatus comprising a carriage that reciprocates in a main scanning direction, a liquid ejecting head mounted on the carriage, and a liquid-room-forming member mounted on the carriage, having a liquid-room opening and a liquid-communication-way groove that are communicated with the liquid ejecting head and with a liquid supplying source, wherein the liquid-room opening and the liquid-communication-way groove are provided in a same first surface of the liquid-room-forming member and covered by a common film member, and the common film member covering the liquid-room opening and the liquid-communication-way groove is arranged substantially parallel to the main scanning direction.

23. (previously presented): A liquid ejecting apparatus according to claim 22, wherein another liquid-room opening is provided in a second surface opposite to the first surface and is covered by another film member.

24. (previously presented): A liquid ejecting apparatus according to claim 22, further comprising another liquid-room-forming member mounted on the carriage, having a liquid-room opening covered by another film member, and the two liquid-room-forming members are formed as a single integral member.

25. (previously presented): A liquid ejecting apparatus according to claim 22, wherein the liquid-room-forming member is arranged such that the first surface is horizontal.
